The Conclusion for The Writ for the Mandamus for the Response

Conclusion 1. Affiant, Henry Shivley, is the individual freeman sovereign national for the Republic for the united States for the Americas, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 2. Affiant is born, August 7, 1961, with the unalienable (see Definition 37) rights that are the Bill of the Rights. The Bill of the Rights is the common law with ten Articles containing (see Definition 38) the maximums (see Definition 39) and procedures (see Definition 40) for the litigation (see Definition 41) in the common law court. The common law is the American nationals for the Republic for the united States for the Americas' law. The common law is the superior (see Definition 42) law for the Republic for the united States for the Americas, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 3. The common law jury (see Definition 43) for the Republic for the united States for the Americas is the ultimate decider for the facts for the common law jurisdiction, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 4. Affiant invokes affiant's every right for the Bill of the Rights at the every instance as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 5. The insertion of the 14th Amendment into the Constitution for the Republic for the united States for the Americas is the violation of the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 6. The 14th Amendment declares the American nationals for the Republic for the united States for the Americas to be subject to the corporate state governments, the corporate federal government, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 7. A subject has not the unalienable rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 8. The subject is subject to the arbitrary will of another or others, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 9. The United States Corporation is the fraud, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 10. The United States Corporation is the operating without the consent (see Definition 44) of the American national for the Republic for the united States for the Americas, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 11. The 14th Amendment subject is not of the capacity to volunteer by the free will for the anything, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 12. The subject is the subject of the superior authority, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 13. The Article 9 for the Bill of the Rights is written in indisputable (see Definition 45) fact. “The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.”, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 14. The enumeration in the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights is addressing the authority within the Constitution for the Republic for the united States for the Americas, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 15. The Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights declares no authority can be created by the Constitution to disparage or deny the authorities by the Bill of the Rights which are the other rights retained by the American nationals for the Republic for the united States for the Americas, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 16. The common law jurisdiction for the Bill of the Rights is the only jurisdiction for the individual free sovereign American national for the Republic for the united States for the Americas in the private capacity, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 17. The common law jurisdiction for the Bill of the Rights is the self government for the American nationals' contracts between one another need no United States Corporation government stamp of approval, the United States Corporation government has no authority in the common law, the United States Corporation government's authority is administrative admiralty, created in the violation for the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 18. The United States Corporation cannot remove the individual free sovereign American national for the Republic for the united States for the Americas from the superior common law jurisdiction to the inferior admiralty jurisdiction, created in the violation for the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 19. The assertion that the United States Corporation can interpret, regulate, or remove the common law is a fraud. The Article the 7 for the Bill of the Rights clearly states, "In suits at common law where the value and controversy shall exceed $20, the right of trial by the jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise reexamined in any court of the united States and according to the rules of the common law." Even in the Constitution for the United States for the Americas, the Supreme Court judges are selected by the government, not elected from among the people, as is required in the common law. Neither the Supreme Court for the United States Corporation nor the Supreme Court for the Republic for the united States for the Americas is the common law court, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 20. The true supreme court for the Republic for the united States for the Americas has no authority to define or regulate the Bill of the Rights, as any such authority is forbidden by the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights. Only the common law jury in the common law court through the common law jurisdiction can define the Bill of the Rights for the individual issue for the American nation for the Republic for the united States for the Americas in the private capacity, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 21. Since the illegal construction and enactment of the 14th Amendment, the fictitious treasonous United States Corporation has seized power through illegal “emergency” (see Definition 46) acts (see Definition 47) in direct violation for the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 22. The Constitution for the Republic for the united States for the Americas, having been subverted through corporate fraud, enforced by illegal armed corporate agents, is breached through the subversion, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 23. The Constitution for the Republic for the united States for the Americas is breached beyond repair; hence (see Definition 48) the authority granted for the Constitution for the Republic for the united States for the Americas reverts back to the individual states and to the American nationals, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 24. As the constitutions for the individual states have joined in the usurpation by the United States Corporation in the violation for the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, the constitutions for the individual states are null and void, via the irreparable breach, hence all the powers reverts back to the American national, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 25. The Bill of the Rights belongs to the American nationals as individuals, each American national is born with the Bill of the Rights, as a part of the American nationals' beings, the Bill of the Rights is the American nationals' natural unalienable rights, the American nationals' unalienable rights cannot be voted away, contracted away, legislated away, or given away, as the Article the 9, the Article the 10 for the Bill of the Rights, affirms, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 26. The common law, representing the authority of the American nationals is the supreme law over the land previously described as the Republic for the united States for the Americas presently under occupation by United States Corporation usurpers, as affirmed by the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 27. The common law courts are the guaranteed venue for the prosecution for the individual superior jurisdiction for the American national by the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 28. The American national is the sovereign for the land previously described as the Republic for the united States for the Americas, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 29. The American nationals are not the corporate property, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 30. The American nationals are not the property of any individual or the group of individuals, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 31. Two hundred forty-three years ago, April 18, 1775, the American nationals codified their absolute unalienable freedom and liberties in blood, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 32. The Bill of the Rights is ratified law that cannot be altered by any authority, no such authority can exist, as affirmed by the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 33. The United States Corporation, through the creation and enactment of unlawful acts, declaring emergency authorities forbidden by the Article the 9 for the Bill of the Rights, have removed the common law courts, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 34. The United States Corporation cannot remove the common law jurisdiction which resides in every American national, the affiant does not surrender affiant's superior jurisdiction over the land previously described as the Republic for the united States for the Americas, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 35. The affiant will not be enslaved by the United States Corporation, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 36. The United States Corporation will be removed; the lawful government under the authority for the American nationals for the Republic for the united States for the Americas will be restored, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 37. All actors involved in the fraud for the attempt for the corporate enslavement for the affiant will be charged, tried, if found guilty, punished for high treason, sedition, and insurrection, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 38. Affiant stands firm by the affiant's natural born jurisdiction and authority for the Bill of the Rights, as affirmed by the affiant.

Conclusion 39. Affiant is a free American national, the no administrative admiralty jurisdiction can apply to affiant, as it is the violation of affiant's superior authority, affiant's superior will, and affiant's absolute right to the common law jurisdiction for the common law court, as affirmed by the affiant.
